I left my conscience in the locker room
For a moment I feel like growling to the moon
Brutality straight from my mind
Temporary emotion dysfunction

Why Leave me to myself
Fading lights and straight up darkness
It's my time to shine, it's your bottom line
Falling in the cliché
So much was said and left undone
It's my time to shine now I celebrate your demise

From now on
I will rise for myself
Time goes by
I won't be a victim of your slavery anymore

Give me more!

Why Leave me to myself
Fading lights and straight up darkness
It's my time to shine, it's your bottom line
Falling in the cliché
So much was said and left undone
It's my time to shine now I celebrate your demise
