Take a walk on a rainbow
Ascend to higher grounds
Cross through this world of wonder
Where no one has gone before

Comon you have to realise
That this isn't reality
Forget your stars and dreams
And learn to be yourself

You fail faster every minutes
You crumble on every situation
And if you put the bar too high
It might chop your head right

You're not to blame for trying
The pain is real her name is not
You might think you're on something big
But seriously your not

Look at these vast plains
Together we remain
We are so perfect
Your eyes shine in mine
Make this moment last forever
My precious shinning star
Will come down and collide

Everything turned to ashes
Who see who will save you now

Who will save you know?
