The sea is full of monsters
As are the mountains
The deserts are full of death
From canyon to steppe
The valley is full of skulls
Picked clean by monsters
God only knows why
How we made it this far

The oceans teem with monsters
The islands are filled with fire
The sky is full of hunters
In every forest, nook, and crag
[Every lake and bog and cave]
There's monsters, monsters, monsters
Waiting with baited breath
The desert is full of death
The sea is full of more than we can fathom
God only knows
How we made it this far
Everybody knows
We must be monsters, too

The Earth is filled with Dragons
Their Blood pumps with Magma
They fill the sky with Ash
And thick Volcanic Fog
Hell if I know
How we made it this far
God only knows
We must be monsters, too

We made it this far

We must be monsters, too
