"Eraser"

I fastened myself here to try last Friday,
Hoping you'd notice.
But due to alcohol I was that much less of a success.

I watched my World walk away on two legs.
Embarrassed I stumbled home on mine.

I know it's my instinct,
But you're what I want.
I must erase you from my thoughts,
Via the hard way.

I find my fondness for you unnerving,
Much like the crease on your lips,
Soothing.

Relying on instinct,
But you're what I want.
Instead of giving in,
We could say we tried.

I have tried my best, to let this out.
I fear I'll fail you, as I failed myself.
Relying on instinct, so don't be shy.
I must erase you from my mind.
I must erase you from my mind.

I must erase you from my thoughts.
