The curtain is drawn let the banquet begin
Behind closed eyes the mirror is
Shattered again

Ascension of personal will
And unhindered perception
In the place I know well, yet so unfamiliar

The door is ajar but I dare not pass through it
On the leash of my conscience
How I long for...

Ascension of personal will
And unhindered perception
Yet this place I know well remains unfamiliar

Unseen are objects in the way
Of transparency
Another day another wrong turn
And this can't go on that much longer

It took its toll
As I wandered through another dream alone
A dreamdeath by suicide

Uncertainty reigns where the light stabs receptors
All the hidden pain. I will die before...

Ascension of personal will
And unhindered perception
In this unending maze that's all too familiar

Materializing through clouded thought
As distorted visions of my own death
A sudden urge to sleep

It took its toll
As I wandered through another dream alone
A dreamdeath by suicide
