Jennifer

The world is waiting at your feet this morning

Tell me girl

Why does that leave you low?

And you mind is like the fire

That has left the rest to gaze in wonder

Jennifer

You know I love you so

And there's so much in the air

That's fading like the rain

And I try to shake the truth

But I'm waiting here for Jennifer again

Oh she's everything

Jennifer

I could be twice the man I am today

If you would call

And let me in again

And your hair is like the morning

And your eyes are like I'm feeling

Oh it's poetry

When Jennifer complains

And there's so much in the air

That's fading like the rain

And I try to shake the truth

But I'm waiting here for Jennifer again

Oh she's everything
