Ignition

We are the voice of a vision

Walking the path of extremes

By shades of grey we try to dig our way

While we are cursed, tortured and expelled

Without remorse

Will there be a time for those dreams to be fulfilled?

We are the voice of ignition

We're walking the path of extremes

Branded, stranded. Laughed at from the outset

We are cursed, tortured and expelled

Without remorse

There are no reasons

There's only hatred and disgust

There are no reasons but fear of innovations
