Say it so great break down
I could touch our shade
And round up right

I was thinking back to what you said to me
That I was replaced, that I was replaced
And now I know he's not the same as me
Taking shots, to take the pain away
I'm falling for you but I hit the floor

So take me, for the fool I am, please
Hold me once again, leave
Everything be still at home
And if you loved me
We could push for something better on the inside
Building what we should've felt all the more

It's not that I'm feeling so weak for myself
But I try to forget that you're gone
So I keep to myself and I look to the sky
But I find no help

And now I know he's not the same as me
And I know you won't be happy
I'm fighting for your love and so much more

So take me, for the fool I am, please
Hold me once again, leave
Everything be still at home
And if you loved me
We could push for something better on the inside
Building what we should've felt all the more

I thought I knew the game
Joke's on me, yeah I got played
Somethings will never change,
Oh, oh, oh
And I can't stop loving you
Yeah I'm not over you
We've come so far but I can't go back to you

So take me, for the fool I am, please

Hold me once again, leave
Everything be still at home
And if you loved me
We could push for something better on the inside
Building what we should've felt all the more

I thought I knew the game
Joke's on me, yeah I got played
Somethings will never change,
Oh, oh, oh
And I can't stop loving you
Yeah I'm not over you
We've come so far but I can't go back to you
