

Attrition

"A Girl Called Harmony"

Visit "A Girl Called Harmony" on MotoLyrics.com

Feeling much better, I wrote her a letter
I'd better forget her you said
You know how it went but I never did send it
It's still spinning around in my head
Ringing bells of alarm in me
This girl called Harmony's
Setting alight to my bed
And how could I tell that this ghost was a devil
Wrapped in the guise of my friend

It's all so plain - we both saw this coming
It's all so plain - I'd cry for a woman
It's all so plain - we both saw this coming
It's happening over again
It's happening over again

Under the weather, I rose up to get her

'M going to regret her you said
We could live forever, in a land never-never
I never could settle the rent
No-one can harm me
Like this girl called Harmony
Losing her way and I guess
Though God may forbid it, you may be forgiven
For stealing away at the end

It's all so plain - we both saw this coming
It's all so plain - I'd cry for a woman
It's all so plain - we both saw this coming
It's happening over again
It's happening over again

This girl called Harmony

Visit Attrition page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.