I am reluctant to pronounce your name, here stuck in these waters
I still fight your wave I have been buried by your selfish game, I won't forget the way pinned me down

With or without you I am still right here, under your wave Without you I am nothing, I'm all pouring rain I set my mind at ease

A pretty girl will always leave a grave, so now tell me what's a boy supposed to do

When all is said and all is done, you can't go back again
And every time you try to leave, you end up here again
