

Parr John"The Story Still Remains The Same Vices"

Visit "The Story Still Remains The Same Vices" on MotoLyrics.com

Drinking and smoking, nothing can satisfy Sleeping together, you are my only vice

You are the controller, the master of all my senses
You're working me over, there's no escape

Chorus:

'Cause you can run, but you can't hide
In everyone of us, there's a hunger deep inside
We all need love, we all feel pain
Though we feel the winds of change, the story still remains the same

Dancing, together, two bodies feel as one Closer and closer, destiny leads us on

You are the controller, the master of all my senses
You're taking me over, there's no escape (chorus - with "Though we feel the things have changed...")

And now you broke through my defenses, you brought me in out of the cold
But as the atmosphere condenses, I write my name across your soul

(chorus - without "the same")

'Cause you can run, but you can't hide
Through the fire and the flame that keeps burning deep inside
We all need love, we all feel pain
Though we feel the winds of change, the story still
remains the same

Visit Parr John page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
