

Parry Gripp "Neon Pegasus"

Visit "Neon Pegasus" on MotoLyrics.com

Spread your wings
Neon Pegasus
and go flying through
the night
they can take
your glitter
but they can't take
away your sparkle

And the thousand arm
robot octopus
will try to grab
your golden reins
but your wings are
strong from the battle
over cupcake mountain

Never again
to be lonely
never again to be
without a home
never to bow to the
gummy king's throne
never again,
never again
never again to
be put down
by the marzipan
at the silver lake lounge
soaring over it all,
high up in the clouds
never again,
never again

Yeah!
when i first saw you
defeating the gummy
king's gluten powered
armada in the darkness
of space, i knew you
were no ordinary pegasus

Un-break your heart,
neon pegasus
and go climbing
through the stars
out there with
your dreams
your sparkly dreams

and the genetically
modified salamander
with a face just like
George Clooney
can't track you down
with the rockabilly
worm from space land

Never again
to be lonely
never again to be
without a home
never to bow to the
gummy king's throne
never again,
never again
never again to
be put down
by the marzipan
at the silver lake lounge
soaring over it all,
high up in the clouds
never again,
never again

No matter how insane and Ridiculous they seem
You must follow your dreams

Visit Parry Gripp page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.