"Midnight Roads"

Maybe our roads were not easy at all,
We better watch the one that comes.
As every line that passes through the road,
A memory you'll recall.

Drive along the bitter ways of god,
Where the human skulls are sins.
Maybe our roads were not easy at all,
We better watch the one that comes tonight.

Shadows hide behind the evil wolves,
They're waiting for you to fall.
Choose the route this time carefully,
Cause you'll be there until you die.

And it's me who burn through the midnight roads
And it's me who killed the face of hell.

And it's me who burn through the midnight roads

And it's me who killed the face of hell.

Take your hands away from blinded eyes
Or they will take you to the grave.
Come to see where your eyes will
Lie if you try to fade away.

And it's me who burn through the midnight roads
And it's me who killed the face of hell.

And it's me who burn through the midnight roads
And it's me who killed the face of hell.

Look at him. He just wait.

And it's me who burn through the midnight roads
And it's me who killed the face of hell.
