When all my dreams are scattered to the wind
I'll begin again and you're the reason why
When all our friends no longer know my name
And say that I'm not the same, I know that I'll get by

As long as there's you at the end of every road
To give me all your love and a gentle hand to hold
As long as there's you at the end of every night
To tell me it's alright and shield me from the cold

I'll be strong and I'll be tall
There is nothing I can do
I may stumble I may fall
I won't care if there is you
At the end of it all
I won't care if there is you
At the end of it all

You are the sun that shines upon my face
And smiles upon my life in everything I do
So let the rain come pouring to the ground
'Cause nothing gets me down as long as there is you

As long as there's you at the end of every road
To give me all your love and a gentle hand to hold
As long as there's you at the end of every night
To tell me it's alright and shield me from the cold

I'll be strong and I'll be tall
There is nothing I can do
I may stumble I may fall
I won't care if there is you
At the end of it all
I won't care if there is you
At the end of it all

There is nothing I can do
I may stumble I may fall
I won't care if there is you
At the end of it all
At the end of it all
At the end of it all
