Hey, I'm riding
Riding on a wave getting higher
Hey, I'm riding
Riding on a wave getting higher

Would you mind be so kind
Move aside from the line you can't help me
I've tried and I've cried you can't push me aside
'Cause I'm riding higher

I can see all my years flashing thru my head
Taking me back, showing me what I done wrong
Looking for all the friends that I used to have Wondering where
Wondering where they've all gone

Hey, I'm riding a wave getting higher and higher
I got only one thing left on my mind
And I'm wishing someone would either call
Or come on thru
To the love that's inside all the time

If you could picture me
Walking down that road
Would you help me, baby
Help my heavy load
Help me, help me

Now, I'll tell you all I know
There's nothing left to hide
I'm just a passing spirit
Passing thru the sky
Even though one day I'll die my soul will carry on
In another time
I hope I won't go wrong

Help me, help me, help me now

Help me, help me, help me now
