You never thought you could run away
From the scenes in your head
You never thought you would cast away
All the lines you've been fed.
If reason and justice, dampen the flame
Then freedom, remorseless enters the game

Even if you fall, even if you fall
I'll be your fortress.
Even if you run, even if you run
I'll be your fortress.

Some day you're gonna realise
That my heart is your home
And trust will not be compromised
'Cos you're never alone
And seasons will come and go
But I'll be there to wipe the tears from your eyes
To comfort your weary heart over time, over time

Even if you fall, even if you fall
I'll be your fortress.
Even if you run, even if you run
I'll be your fortress.

Even if you fall, even if you fall
I'll be your fortress.
Even if you run, even if you run
I'll be your fortress.
