Girl, you are my kind of lover
I'm still amazed that we found one another
'Cause I'm just a man, selfish and proud
You could've been gone but you're standing here now

And I know, I don't say it enough
But I long for your body and live for your touch
Or the moments when it's just you and me Right where I know I should be

'Cause you save me baby, from myself
Can I be saved? Only time will tell
You're the difference between luck and love
Baby, when I was looking at all, looked like a cannonball
Tear down the walls, look like a cannonball

Tonight well I said what I said
I had too much to drink and went out of my head
But I'm sorry, I'll give up the fight
So let's lay down together and get through tonight

Closer and closer, right by my side
Here in the dark where there is nothing to hide
We'll spend a lifetime, under these covers
There is so much to you and I'm yet to discover

'Cause you save me baby, from myself
Can I be saved? Only time will tell
You're the difference between luck and love
Baby, when I was looking at all, looked like a
cannonball
Tear down the walls, look like a cannonball

'Cause you save me baby, from myself
Can I be saved? Only time will tell
You're the difference between look and love
Baby, when I was looking at all, looked like a
cannonball
Tear down the walls, look like a cannonball

Look like a cannonball

Look like a cannonball
Look like a cannonball
