

Pat Green

"Love Had Something To Say"

Visit "Love Had Something To Say" on MotoLyrics.com

You thought you had this thing licked
Hide under the covers when you answer the phone, pretend your sick
You built that wall around your heart so no one could get to it
You must have missed a spot, honey, I walked right through it

Love had something to say about it
Wasn't gonna let you just lay there and cry
Baby, I live just to dry your eyes

Thought you could live just fine without it
Tough out every heartache you hide
But love had something to say about it
Love had something to say about it

Nothing lives without water
You live so long without love you think it's how you oughta
Now that is the dumbest lie that we ever tell ourselves I'm not trying to offend you baby, just bring you to the well

Love had something to say about it
Wasn't gonna let you just lay there and cry
Baby, I live just to dry your eyes

Thought you could live just fine without it
Tough out every heartache you hide
But love had something to say about it
Love had something to say

Thought you could live just fine without it
Wasn't gonna let you just lay there and cry
'Cause baby, I live just to dry your eyes

But love had something to say about it
Love had something to say about it
Love had something to say about it

