The cold dark night
Is seeping in
I find myself awake
The dreams they come
They seem so real
The darkness fades away

My God why did you have to bring me back
I was so sure these were things I'd gotten past
It's jus a matter of time till I'll need something real
With the hurt that surrounds me (I don't know what to feel)
Bring the healing

I won't look back
I am complete

On this I meditate
I wish these thoughts would disappear
My mind I consecrate

Open your eyes
See what's inside
Left alone in the darkness
I find out who I truly am
With my mind left to wander
These thoughts they come in Times past replayed

Things done wounds made
Bring the healing, bring the healing
Jesus Christ became real
Captivated my heart
