And this time it's up to her, she's tired of waitin'
She only wants if she deserves, there's no escapin'
The fact that she's older and life's turnin' colder
She's findin' it hard to stay warm

After the stars fall down and there's nothing for wishin'
on
After the goodbye sound and love leaves her alone
She picks herself up off the ground
She won't bow down, she's come too far to give up now

Her friends, all think it's so sad, she must be lonely
She cannot help sometimes but laugh, she knows they're only
Trying to help her but if they really knew her
They'd know she's comin' into her own

After the stars fall down and there's nothin' for wishin'
on
After the goodbye sound and love leaves her alone
She picks herself up off the ground
She won't bow down, she's come too far to give up now

She's not sure just where she's goin'
She's not owin' nobody
She just wants the simple life
Where they all leave her alone

Now, now, now, now
Now, now, now, now

And now she's comin' into her own

After the stars fall down and there's nothin' for wishin'
on
After the goodbye sound and love leaves her alone
She picks herself up off the ground
She won't bow down, she's come too far to give up
Won't bow down, she's come too far to give up now
