We're going down a straight curve, all along the while
And people have you heard, all about the child Up above God asked you, won't you hold it down Feeling our way through, digging up the sound And the blanket of hope surrounds us, feeding our every thought

Covering us from all the bad luck, wanting to never be caught

Chorus

We can see the lightning now, Blinding both our eyes somehow

We will do as we're told, Standing by our very souls Wishing only what should not be, Won't somebody answer me

Out of sight, not out of mind, Soon we're running out of time

We're going down a straight curve, things never look the same

Life seems so absurd, ain't it time for a change

The old ones for the new kind, you can't leave the home

It's gonna get worse with time, But you're no longer alone

And if the ball rolls off this sand hill road, Someone's there to see it down

"This cup's half full" is the way we chose, The only way around

Chorus

We're going down a straight curve, trying not to lose our minds

Holding on at every turn, never keeping between the lines

Virginia's always home to us, feeding our heads with hope

We don't think about it much, cause we know we'll always know

If the time runs out on our show somehow, you'll be there to turn it back

So check your coat; you'll be here for now realizing what we have

Chorus
