I never think about
Never stick around
You don't even care who's watching you
And you won't look back there

Time is ticking and life is living right by your head
You'd better watch it now and do what I said

You got to hold on to what you got
'Cause things might fall apart
But it don't mean nothing less you stick to your ways
You got to hold on to what you got before you get burned

Couldn't find yourself
Blame somebody else
You never look at me straight in the eye
And you won't even ask why

'Cause time is ticking and life is living right by your head
You'd better watch it now and do what I said

You got to hold on to what you got
'Cause things might fall apart
But it don't mean nothing less you stick to your ways
You got to hold on to what you got before you get
burned

Must have been something
You don't even seem to mind at all
Nothing could have ever been so bad

Still don't know your name
Man, you're such a shame
Do yourself a favor
Don't say much and just keep your mouth shut

You got to hold on to what you got
'Cause things might fall apart
But it don't mean nothing less you stick to your way
You got to hold on to what you got before you get

burned

You got to hold on to what you got

You got to hold on to what you got

burned
