

Ben Parcell

"Count On Me"

Visit "Count On Me" on MotoLyrics.com

The summer's gone to sleep, the nights are closing in.
Even though you're near, the loneliness begins to take control,
Of the situation. I thought that heaven held a place for me and you,
But until then what will I do?

I don't think I know for sure what this life will lead to.
Whether things will turn out right, nothing is for certain.
When I say these words to you, a promise that will always be.
You know that you, you can count on me.

Whatever happened to everything you dreamt about?
You only get one chance to prove yourself to this so called world.
All the times I've wondered, what if heaven held a place for me and you, but until then what will I do?

What's the point in being blind in what life can offer?
You're so scared in what you find, why do you even bother?
If I could be the one, I'd be that someone you'd be proud of
But I'm just so unprepared, will it ever even stop?

I've found the meaning of the point of no return.
And that's just how I'll stay,
Tied into this place that we call home.
I can't understand the way we come to learn,
The disrespect and jealousy.
Don't you worry you can count on me.

Visit Ben Parcell page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.