Let me take this moment girl to offer you this song.
Here's to all those moments when I thought we don't belong.

Well I've been sorry lately, I hope you'll understand.
All those broken promises are caught up in my mind.

Do you ever think of me, and how we went wrong?

Eight years and eight days, sounds like a long, long time.

Too bad you broke my heart, anyone in love would realise.

I'd give anything to get back what was ours.
I guess I'll never get that chance to offer you my heart.

I couldn't sleep at night, until I knew for sure that you'd be mine.

But you had other plans; I found them very hard to understand.

When we're all grown up, with all of our problems set aside.

Will we be forgotten, living separate lives?

Have I ever told you that my mind's made up now?

I'm sorry girl for everything I put you through.
Seems like we don't belong, it's why it took so long to write this song.

Emotional, I know that I can be, best times we had together,
I do not regret a single thing.
