"Fortune Changes Overnight"

You're up and running
Way before they fired the gun
Who do you think you're fooling
Cause you're not fooling anyone

Scared to walk the stony ground
But then you take goliath down

They never told you there'd be days, like these, like these
Told you there'd be days like these, like these
Don't know why, but sometimes fortune changes overnight

If you can't fake it
You'd better take it on the chin
Lying on the canvas
Waiting for that bell to ring

Blowing trumpets at the wall
Forty times until they fall

They never told you there'd be days, like these, like these
Told you there'd be days like these, like these
Don't know why, but sometimes fortune changes
Sometimes fortune changes overnight

Blowing trumpets at the wall
Forty times until they fall

They never told you there'd be days, like these, like these
Told you there'd be days like these, like these
Don't know why, but sometimes fortune changes
Sometimes fortune changes
Sometimes fortune changes
