We ran so fast
We hit the wall
Why we never saw it coming
Makes no sense at all
Trying to say, the storm
Was just a breeze
We were busy buying raincoats
As the water reached our knees
We lost our way
We're losing faith these days

How can we make it better
When everything snakes and ladders
At the end of the day
We're climbing up to slide back down again
Does anything really matters
When everything's snakes and ladders
When will it change
Does anybody know a way to end this game
I'm tired of landing on square one again

We held our breath
And closed our eyes
Told ourselves it wouldn't happen
Then we rolled the dice
We lived a dream
Now we're losing sleep
All the wolves were dressed as shepherds
As we were getting fleeced
We lost our way
We're losing faith these days

How can we make it better
When everything snakes and ladders
At the end of the day
We're climbing up to slide back down again
Does anything really matters
When everything's snakes and ladders
When will it change
Does anybody know a way to end this game
I'm tired of landing on square one again

How can we make it better
When everything snakes and ladders
At the end of the day
We're climbing up to slide back down again
Does anything really matters
When everything's snakes and ladders
When will it change
Does anybody know a way to end this game
I'm tired of landing on square one again
(This game)
I'm so tired of landing on square one again
