Welcome to the chaos
To the scraps and stacks of paper
Puppets hanging in the kitchen
In an avalanche of wind chimes
Oh I need you love... Welcome to my guesses
To the questions unremembered
In a myriad of choices
In the fragments of my sentences
I need you love
I need you love...
Need you like an arrow
Needs the center of a circle as it flies
I need you love
Like sleep and light and oxygen
And your warm arms around me when I cry
Oh baby I'll try to find a million ways
To tell you all the endless reasons why
Welcome to the circus
And the days so swift unfolding
Where I have no flipping clue
And yet I sound as if I do
You know I need you love
Welcome to the lessons
And the dance of sweet forgiveness
To the gift of my intentions
And the depth of my commitment
Oh I need you love
I need you love...
I need you through the spirals
And detours
And the dark nights of my soul
I need you love...
The lips the hands the eyes the voice
The story that we share as it unfolds
This dream we hold
Promise me we will always be together
And you'll never let me go
Welcome to forever
Even more and ever after
After all the things we've weathered
Whether anything else matters

Oh I need you love...
I need you, love
