"Sure Was Great"

Sure was great to see you
After such a long time
I had nearly forgotten
That sunny park and nine-dollar wine

But it's not a great idea
That's spinning 'round in my head
To try and re-ignite a spark when
It's better to let it die

And while we talked of where you're at

I tried not to think of going back
Sometimes I felt at home
But for now I know I'm better off on my own

Sure was great to see you
Just when I was feeling a little low down
Talking to you on the corner
Brought back so many memories
I hope to see you 'round again
