

Big City Dreams

"Head North. Turn Left"

Visit "Head North. Turn Left" on MotoLyrics.com

Can we stay the same if I move half the world away?
we've float off through the night and hope to meet somewhere in between
And the sunshine will give every story a bright side, another happy ending
On the west coast you'll never need a raincoat, dreaming's what we're doing out here

Would the stars shine the same on your side of half the world away?
wish upon a moonlight sky that I will be back again someday
And the nightlife of temporary yes good bye You'll do right and I will do the same On the west coast don't never need a winter, waiting's what I'm doing out here

Every story has an end, but I prefer to begin again
Just like a book I've never read I prefer to begin again

Can we stay the same if I move half the world away?
we've flown up through the night and hope to meet somewhere in between
And the sunshine will give every story a bright side,
another happy ending
On the west coast you'll never need a raincoat, dreaming is what I am doing out here

Every story has an end, but I prefer to begin again
Just like a book I've never read I prefer to begin again

Every story has an end, but I prefer to begin again
Just like a book I've never read I prefer to begin again

(Â...)

Visit Big City Dreams page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.