

Patrick Park "You Were Always the One"

Visit "You Were Always the One" on MotoLyrics.com

I've been stuck in my ways
I've been rollin through days
Always afraid that things might get better I've been traveling down this road liven free I suppose
All the while feelin tired and tethered

And I don't understand while I play these games and I trade the truth for lies Cuz you're always the one I was looking for babe, it just took time to realize

I've scrummed it away on the brightest of days
Always had trouble keeping on the level
And I made a big show of lepton ya go God knows I was some kind of devil

And I don't understand while I play these games and I
trade the truth for lies
Cuz you're always the one I was looking for babe, it just
took time to realize

It's the hardest thing by far, to see who we are
And then let the whole thing go

And float like the leaves and hang on the wind Whichever way it blows

Now mistakes it's true I've made more than a few and I'm goin to make many others
And it's hard to see why we go through this sometimes
All the things that we do to each other

And I don't understand while I play these games and I
trade the truth for lies
Cuz you're always the one I was looking for babe, it just
took time to realize

Visit Patrick Park page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.