

Billy Yates

"A Day I Never Will Forget"

Visit "A Day I Never Will Forget" on MotoLyrics.com

I took a puff behind my neighbour's she'd
My knees got weak and my face turned red
I still taste that first cigarette
A day I never will forget

That moment lives, that memory last
A part of my future, a part of my past
I was a different man, when the sun finally set
A day I never will forget

When my left tire blew, I hit the wall
I walked away without a scratch at all
I get chills when I think the fate I almost met
A day I never will forget

B' that moment lives, that memory last
A part of my future, a part of my past
I was a different man, when the sun finally set
A day I never will forget

I was a different man when the sun finally set
A day I never will forget

As I watch the news, my tears hit the floor
They said a thousand dead, maybe even more
The world won't be the same I'll bet
A day I never will forget

B' that moment lives, that memory last
A part of my future, a part of my past
I was a different man, when the sun finally set
A day I never will forget

Visit Billy Yates page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.