She said lies are for liars
Had me thinking that my pants were on fire
Had me hanging by a telephone wire
Connected to a telephone without any dials

Go ahead and call me a fake
I know you know me better than that I've taken time to realize I'm doing better
But you still got me feeling like the old me
It's quite annoying
So please understand where I'm coming from Cause I don't know who exactly I'm running from
Is it you or the man up stairs
It's these things that make me aware of how I'm Living my life and where I'm headed

Will there be anybody listening the second I stop singing

She said lies are for liars
Had me thinking that my pants were on fire
Had me hanging by a telephone wire
Connected to a telephone without any dials

You got me all figure out
Bet you think you do
But the thing is you don't even have a clue
Of the person I've become Cause girl you knew me
But I'm the new me
Oh I've been changing for the better
Learning to rearrange my thoughts
Never settle for someone I can't be It's these things that make me feel like I am

Losing my mind in slow motion
Will there be anybody listening the second I stop
singing

She said lies are for liars
Had me thinking that my pants were on fire
Had me hanging by a telephone wire

Connected to a telephone without any dials

I've been here one too many times before
It always gets the best of me
I wish you saw that there was something more Than who you thought I'd be

She said lies are for liars
Had me thinking that my pants were on fire
Had me hanging by a telephone wire
Connected to a telephone without any dials
