You don't play the game you can't make the rules while you sit and think of witch lies to choose again you push me as I'm falling you say you changed your ways but I fail to see that it's the same old shit that you're doing to me you hold me down when I am drowning just when I've begun to crawl out from this hole the walls start caving

I can't believe the things that you say you're words are choking me I cant believe your nerve as you're leaving me you're watching me as I bleed here it comes again now let the games begin you give a smile for no body to pretend you always pinch me when I'm dreaming you give a chance to all who try except for me and as I close my eyes I can finally see you never stop til I lay dying

just when I've begun
to crawl out from this hole the walls start crumbling

I can't believe the things that you say
you're words are choking me
I cant believe your nerve as you're leaving me
you're watching me as I bleed

I cant believe your nerve as you're leaving me

I can't believe the things that you say (that you say, that you say, that you say)
you're words are choking me
I cant believe your nerve as you're leaving me (as you walk over me, as you're leaving me)
you're watching me as I bleed

you're words are choking me
I cant believe your nerve as you're leaving me
you're watching me as I bleed
