I've seen this before, you're on it again it's all in your eyes they've sold you out now that your worlds standing still I've got time to say that the steps that you take to forget all your pain wont let you remember your life's not that easy to change you're chemical dream, has gone to far now you've become what they told you to be and somehow forgot who you are they tell you to say, you're better than me but what they pholis I've already told you for free and now here we are so very far from the start well that shit that you take might have cleared up your mind but didn't leave much of your heart

if you walk away, don't turn around I wont pick you up just to watch you fall down again maybe this time, you'll realize...

oh no now you've become what they told you to be
now you've become what they what they told you to be...yeah...
