For centuries we have been at war
But this is where the battle ends
And I have won

And yes you may raise awareness to
The damage I've to mend
And what you've done

But I know that you know the truth
And I know that you know
Comeuppance comin after you

So I will lie defeated here
And though it may take many years
You'll come clean
I will cry repeatedly
But I'll come out the other side
A brand new me

A waiting game
Though I can't sit still
I'm sure that you are in no pain
As you've the guilty plea
And you can claim on your mother's life that you are in the clear
The jury will pin the blame on me
And I know that you know the lie
And I know that you know there's details you cannot deny

So I will lie defeated here
And though it may take many years
You'll come clean
I will cry repeatedly
But I'll come out the other side
A brand new me

So hide my little sheep
But do you hear me howling at the moon when you sleep
See I'm a restless soul
And I'll creep around your house

Until the stories all fall out of all the closets
You've been holding them in all these years

I will lie defeated here
And though it may take many years
You'll come clean
I will cry repeatedly
But I'll come out the other side
A brand new me
