"While Heaven Cried"

I won't cry a single tear

As autumn rain begins to fall
I remember, hear her voice
Through heavenly meadows we tried to run
As if we could touch the sky

Times are changing and so did we
Our love was never meant to be
She laid her body next to mine
It felt no pain, it takes no life

As she buried the shining blade
Her body trembles by it's touch
Sparkling love it gives to her
And while heaven cried... she died

Ohh I loved her... but now she's gone
The rain reminds me of the only one
Her breath still creeping on my neck
And while heaven cried... she died
