Don't know if you think about me
But I do about you
It's just that every time I close my eyes
I do see you
But hey, I think I have to let you know
'Bout me and misery
It's time to let you know
You still do hurt me so

I sit around and watch the days go by
Wonder why you still can make me cry
It's not that I am all alone
Or those lovers I see in the dawn

It was you who really hurt me so
When you said love's a river that has to flow
And that you won't be mine no more
But every river finds its sea some day
And it will be a love like mine that will make you stay
Think it over, before you close all doors

Still it's hard for me to find some sleep at night
What about you
Your memories are just like bright gleaming light
Finding closed eyes, shining through
Do you think about me
Do you feel what I feel
It's time to let you know
You still do hurt me so

I sit around and watch the days go by
Wonder why you still can make me cry
Pain and heartache just came here to stay
Never thought I could be hurt this way

It was you who really hurt...
