

Blind Pigs "Days Of Joy"

I can still remember
How we swore this endless friendship
Can remember all the honest words
Of childish harmony
And we thought that these days
Of joy and fun would last forever
That the world is waiting for our dreams
So serious and free

But someday you were gone
And never seen again
I still can hear the words you said

You said that
Friends will be friends
No matter if the storm will blow
No matter if we're miles apart
No matter where we go
Friends will be friends
We'll stick together till the end
And shine a light of hope in every land
