

Blood Red Eagle

"As The Winds Change Direction"

Visit "As The Winds Change Direction" on MotoLyrics.com

Whirtwinds and fire, nature uncontained,
An old god awoken in the blood of the brave.
The vision of a door once thought to be shut.
The soul that once was stolen now awoken in my blood.
The vision of a door once thought to be shut...

Just like darkness their kingdom falls.
Like a nation screaming, freedom calls.
As the winds change direction.

From blood and dust, now is the time,
From our eternal struggle we will arise as the winds
Change direction.

For everyone we've lost we shall gain and more.
As the winds change direction we will prepare for war.
Freedom roars through the souls of my kind.
The legacy of ash, the subconscious heathen mind.
Return from anti-culture and truth is what you'll find.

Just like darkness their kingdom falls.
Like a nation screaming, freedom calls.
As the winds change direction.

From blood and dust, now is the time,
From our eternal struggle we will arise as the winds
Change direction.

Just like darkness their kingdom falls.
Like a nation screaming, freedom calls.
As the winds change direction.

From blood and dust, now is the time,
From our eternal struggle we will arise as the winds
Change direction.

Visit Blood Red Eagle page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.