Everyday white knuckles clutched, life's terms is Breaking me. And sometimes this grind is all that I can See. But tonight, I'll tear this place down to the Ground. None of that shit will mean a thing to me. The Life I spent seems so discontent, and I can't be appeased

By the worthless things in this fight. I need something

Real. So tonight, I'll tear this place down to the Ground. None of that shit will mean a thing to me. And There was days where it was useless to cry, all I wanted To do was die. But I still had those nights, with me and You and we would, tear it down, right down, to the Fucking ground. This is sanctuary for me.
