Don't like them fires in California
They sure do light up the night sky
Hate to say we tried to warn ya
Gets you light at sunset more than the sunrise

I lost my heart in San Francisco
Left it backstage at some show
Then carried on without a comma
Another heartless man who don't care where he go

Then carried on without a comma
Another heartless man who don't care where he go

I been walkin' on the edge of darkness
Just trying to carry my heavy load
And every time that I get something started
Come turn that rust into shining gold
So tear it down its time to go

They say that nothing lives forever
Yeah you hear it all the time
But let me tell you when you're hurtin'
It's been forever since you was feelin' fine

Can't blame the bad things just on hard luck
Cause I had both hands on the wheel
And you can't always take a hot lap
No matter how good that you think you look and feel

No you can't always take a hot lap
No matter how good that you think you look and feel

I been walkin' on the edge of darkness
Just trying to carry my heavy load
And every time that I get something started
Come turn that rust into shining gold
So tear it down its time to go

Well I been walkin' on the edge of darkness
Just trying to carry my heavy load
And every time that I get something started

Come turn that rust into shining gold

I been walkin' on the edge of darkness
Just trying to carry my heavy load
And every time that I get something started
Come turn that rust into shining gold
So tear it down its time to go

Bye bye San Francisco
