"A Story"

we will hide
beneath a tree
'till night comes night comes
and all our years will drift away again

a lightning bolt
will point us to a treasure
treasure
and when we touch the world will start again

a story, written in the sky
a story, written in the sky
a story, written in the sky
a story.

painted leaves
from trees we read
once fallen
fallen
like autumn pages torn from books gone by

and when we find
our hearts have been mistaken
mistaken
the saddest endings never make us cry

a story, written in the sky
a story.
