she makes her home in the heart of the city everyone that she meets seems to know her by name too many creeps on the streets of the city everyone that she meets seems completely insane dreaming of a space jungle -- where will she go?

then late at night martian drums beat a rhythm electric beat coming down through the radio waves and on the street hear the beat on the blasters coming down from a radio station in space

where will we go?

she spends her time on the streets of the city
there'll come a time when she flees from the city dance away to an alien planet in space living in a space jungle -- where did she go?
