

Patty Larkin

"Angels Wings"

Visit "Angels Wings" on MotoLyrics.com

Angels Wings
by Patty Larkin
thought I had it bad
I had nothing
I had nothing on those who had none and I thought I had it rough but I had not suffered I had not suffered beneath the sun

I read about it all in the morning paper cup a coffee and the New York Times and I think I saw a thing about it on a Barbara Walters special once he beat the shit out of her 'cause life is unkind

angels wings
will bear witness
angels wings
come roaring down
angels wings will
break the silence
and fan the flames
till the siren sounds

and she says I don't want to fear walking down the street I don't want to fear
walking away
and she says I don't want to fear
the anger and the heat I don't want to be afraid of what I'm gonna say

angels wings
will bear witness
angels wings
come roaring down
angels wings will
break the silence

and fan the flames
till the siren sounds

and it's a mans world
but a woman put him in it the hand that rocks the cradle is the mother of us all
and it's a mans world
but it's hard to admit it go ahead and spin it till the cradle falls

angels wings
will bear witness
angels wings
come roaring down
angels wings will
break the silence
and fan the flames
till the siren sounds

angels wings
will bear witness
angels wings
come roaring down
angels wings will
break the silence
and fan the flames
till the siren sounds

Visit Patty Larkin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.