Dear Heart

by Patty Larkin

dear heart, don't be shy dear heart, i'll find you by and by i'll park outside your door dear heart beat for me dear heart beneath the shaded tree who could ask for more

daybreak i'm headed south big words from a braggart's mouth don't bother trying to find me i'll be back around here someday

dear heart, don't break for me i'm gonna need you soon, you'll see like it was before

hailstorms and matadors i look down, my shoes are worn try to apologize but words won't come, they hide in my eyes dear heart, we'll meet again in some cafe along the seine just like it was before

with trumpets and drums, no doubt rag tagged circus clowns will trail behind with upside down frowns
