Stand up straight, they won't notice
Don't fall apart now
Chin up, keep both eyes focused
On your sacred vow

Deep down you've got to remember
What you came here for
You're face to face
With the golden door

We're in a different world
We're in a different world

You don't want to believe it matters
But don't run away now
Think of Alice and the old mad hatter
Just got to figure out how

Who was it, wrote all the rules
You don't need to know a name
You're face to face
In the pouring rain

We're in a different world
We're in a different world

Stand up straight, they won't notice
Don't turn away now
Chin up, keep both eyes focused
Only love will out

Beyond the blue horizon
Lies a silent roar
You're face to face
At the golden door

We're in a different world
We're in a different world

We're in a different world
We're in a different world

It's a different world
It's a different world
It's a different world

It's a different world
It's a different world
It's a different world
It's a different world
