Heart

by Patty Larkin

Get off of your soapbox when you're

Talking to me

Get off of your white horse and you're

How it should be

I want to show you my hands are strong

And my hands want to tear you apart

Tear you apart to prove that you are wrong

And to take a look at your heart heart

Turn off that constant noise baby

You're gonna hurt someone

You aim your mouth at me like you're

Pointing a gun

I want to show you my tongue is strong

And my teeth want to tear you apart

Tear you apart to prove that you are wrong

And to take a look at your heart heart

That's me I'm right behind you

Making sure you never rest

Four walls they do not hide you

I see through your nakedness

I want to show you my mind is strong

And I've half a mind to tear you apart

Tear you apart to prove that you are wrong

You should take a look at your heart heart
