After all my lonely nights
Without an end in sight
A morning shining bright for me awaits
Where the sweetest times will last
All is forgiven from the past

Someday I will, one day I know I will
Someday I will lead the parade

Though they've scattered through the years
Old friends will gather near
With nothing but the kindest words to say
And the sweetest times will last
All is forgiven from the past

Someday I will, one day I know I will
Someday I will lead the parade

And the sweetest times will last
All is forgiven from the past

Someday I will, one day I know I will
Someday I will lead the parade

Someday I will, one day I know I will
Someday I will lead the parade
