We have got to stop fighting
We have got to learn to get along
We have got to know for a relationship in heaven
We've got to tame the devils on our tongue
Oh, it gets harder every time
But we've both crossed the invisible line
It feels like we're two different planets
We're broken, who's gonna fix us
And put us back together again?
So let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right
Yeah, let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right

We have got to stop fighting
And put our ammunition to one side
We have got to understand exploding isn't ever Gonna close the gap between us, it's too wide Oh it gets harder everyday
We spit back at each other and say
It feels like we're on two different planets
But when all the damage is done
It's too late to be sorry

So let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right
Yeah, let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right

Yeah, so lets get some understanding

(ooh)
Just take a deep big breath and say
You can forget all the words I said keep them far away
Coz they don't mean what I meant
And now they're gone anyway
(ooo, aah)

So let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right
Yeah, let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right

Yeah, let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride and realise
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who was right
Yeah, let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
and realise that
Nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we... (ha ha ha)
