

Brian & Blake

"My Only Claim To Fame Is You"

Visit "My Only Claim To Fame Is You" on MotoLyrics.com

When I was seventeen, immature and green,
I thought I knew the man, I wanted me to be,
I never saw myself, working here this way,
I'd thought I'd make the majors, or be standing on a stage

But sometimes fate can put you,
Where you ought to be,
It brought me here to you,
And now you're all I'll ever need

And my only claim to fame is you,
I'm the best I'll ever be,
Because you're loving me,
You're the hometown crowd,
That stands and cheers,
For everything I do,
My only claim to fame is you

It's funny how things change, when you find someone to love,
The things I used to wish for, no longer mean that much,
I wouldn't trade this life, with anyone on earth,
And all that you have given is more than I deserve

And I'm thankful fate has put me,
Where I ought to be, It brought me here to you,
And now you're all I'll ever need

And my only claim to fame is you,
I'm the best I'll ever be, Because you're loving me,
You're the hometown crowd,
That stands and cheers,
For everything I do,
My only claim to fame is you
My only claim to fame is you

Visit Brian & Blake page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

